The Airmen of Note Honor Veterans with Latest CD Release

by Technical Sgt. Kevin Cerovich

11/2/2017 - Washington, D.C. -- The Airmen of Note is set to release their latest studio album honoring on Veterans Day, Saturday, November 11th.

Aptly titled "Veterans of Jazz," the album features music by the men and women who served in the United States Armed Forces and went on to become jazz luminaries.

Each song on the album was arranged by current and former members of the Airmen of Note. This direct lineage serves to highlight the band's connection with the amazing legacy of service that our veterans have left us and, indeed, the lofty standard these American patriots have set for all to follow.

11/2/2017 - Washington, D.C. --The Concert Band and Singing Sergeants just wrapped up their fall 2017 concert tour, which started in Kansas City, MO and concluded in Indianapolis, IN. While on tour, the Concert Band and Singing Sergeants appeared on local television and radio stations, conducted clinics, masterclasses and panel discussions with music students, and performed for thousands of audience members throughout the Midwest. The 13-day tour concluded with a rousing performance at the Pike Performing Arts Center in Indianapolis, IN; but, what happens during that 13-day span? What is a tour actually like for a member of the USAF Band?
